Law Library Overview

The Riverside County Law Library is open to the public and provides free access to current legal materials, educational programs and professional staff to assist with legal research. It is a County Special District effectively functioning as an independent public agency organized under the California Business and Professions Code. Governed by a seven-member Board of Trustees composed of community judges and attorneys, the law library is primarily funded from a small portion of the County's civil court filing fee. It has three locations, Riverside, Indio, and a satellite branch in Temecula.

Our citizens have the fundamental right of equal access to justice, and California provides that access point with its free and open public law libraries. The Board of Law Library Trustees, the Law Librarian and staff are committed to maintaining the Law Library's high level of service and will continually seek ways to enhance service to the public, the bar, the judiciary, and all branches of government of Riverside County.

The collection in Indio, while it does not exactly duplicate the Main Library's collection, consists of key print and electronic resources needed for effective legal research.

The Temecula Public Library Law Resource Center has a relatively small collection of about 350 volumes and access to core collection of legal databases including Lexis, Westlaw, HeinOnline, LegalTrac, EbscoHost, and Forms WorkFlow. The law books are housed in a designated Law Resources Collection within the general circulating collection of the Temecula Public Library. All materials are California specific.

The Law Library has an art collection of more than 50 art pieces including paintings, prints, photographs, and sculptures. The art pieces are on display both in Riverside and Indio. Most of the paintings are watercolor and by California artists, primarily from Riverside County.
